

Extraordinary Service at the Speed of Fresh

Stacey Granucci, Business Development Manager

Stacey brings a wealth of industry knowledge to her role in business development. She began her career at General Produce in 1993, initially as a part-time receptionist, then moving on to oversee the custom Gift Division of the company. Leaving in 2001, to devote time to her two children and family, Stacey rejoined the GP team in 2009 as an outside account manager. Blending an outside sales expertise with an acute understanding of supply chain insight, her “can do, will do” attitude benefits all General Produce Customers, new and existing. Her drive to execute on a sound sales strategy reaches both foodservice and retail sectors of our business.

Key to this position is cultivating strong and enduring relationship with customers. Stacey’s own restaurant experience began at age twelve, inspiring her to open her own restaurant business in 1988, and becoming a General Produce customer.

She is passionate about the culture of food and our strived for excellence in products and services offered. Her motivation encourages creative ways to explore and deliver positive, profitable customer outcomes.

Away from work, Stacey relishes time with family and friends. Her travel in and out of California leads her to enjoy the best foods prepared at the hands of the best makers.